Teeth Friendly Snack Food Ideas

from TheDentistDad.com

The absolute, number one at home snack is: Leftovers!

Ideally snacks are simply mini-meals. Throw some chicken, veggies, and fruit on a plate with or without sauces. Have eggs and bacon as a snack. Leftovers are better for teeth than something from a box!

Fruits and Vegetables:

Grapes Apples, whole Melon Apple slices, precut* Nectarines Avocado Peaches Blueberries Pears Bell pepper slices Peas Carrots* Olives Pickles Celery

Cherry tomatoes Purple cabbage Raspberries* Coconut Cherry tomatoes Seaweed Cucumbers* Strawberries

Edamame

Frozen Vegetables (microwave)

Always try to have a sip of water after every meal or snack!

Meat and cheese*

Cucumbers and cream cheese

Celery and peanut butter

Celery and cream cheese

Pita bread and hummus

Bagels and cream cheese*

Veggies and hummus

Veggies and guacamole

Veggies and ranch

Fruit and cheese*

Grilled cheese sandwiches

Cheese Quesadilla*

Dairy and Eggs: Cheese circles*

Cheese Quesadilla

Cheese slices*

Cheese sticks*

Eggs, hard boiled*

Eggs, scrambled

Yogurt

Yogurt with granola

Yogurt with fresh fruit (parfait)

Yogurt, Greek

Meats:

Ham

Lox

Rotisserie Chicken Salami*

Pepperoni* Turkey

Roast Beef Deli meat

Spreads and dips:

Cream cheese

Peanut butter1 Hummus

G_{Uacamole}

Ranch Ketchup M_{Ustard}

BBQ sauce

Sunflower seed butter

Butter

1: No sugar added peanut butter is best, but if you get the popular

Combinations Ideas:

Toast and peanut butter cut into triangles

Olives stuffed with ham cubes

Grains:

Oatmeal Whole grain bread Whole grain toast*

Bagels*

Soft pretzels*

popcorn

Thawed pancakes (no syrup)*

_{Pita} bread

Muffins*

Copyright 2016 Dr. Roger Lucas, DDS

Clif-Z bars™

Aussie bites™

Granola Bars*

(try for more whole grain, and avoid the really sticky ones.)

Reminder: Choose age appropriate snacks. Nuts, grapes, hot dogs, and sausages are common choking hazards, especially in children ages 3 and under. Cut hot dogs in half. Cut grapes length wise or quarter. Wait until a child is old enough to eat enough, usually when they at least can spell it.

Almonds, slivered Cashews

Pecans

Pistachios

Walnuts

Roger@thedentistdad.com

Teeth Friendly Snack Food Ideas

from TheDentistDad.com

I didn't realize that crackers were one of the biggest cavity causers, because they are such a sticky starch, until three years after I graduated dental school. Figuring that out changed everything for me as far as preventing cavities. No wonder so many kids don't eat much sugar and still get surprised by cavities.

The first time I explain this to parents, I often get asked, What can I feed my kids other than crackers?

The following page is a list of ideas compiled from over 50 moms. It is what real parents are already doing. While compiling the list I only included snack items that I personally would give to my own kids (from a dentist dad perspective) I am included snack items that I personally would give to my own kids (from a dentist dad perspective). Ine following page is a list of ideas compiled from over 50 moms. It is what real parents are already doing. While compiling the list, I only included snack items that I personally would give to my own kids (from a dentist dad perspective.) I am ing the list, I only included snack items that I personally would give to my own kids (from a dentist dad perspective.) I am ing the list, I only included snack items that I personally would give to my own kids (from a dentist dad perspective.) I am ing the list, I only included snack items that I personally would give to my own kids (from a dentist dad perspective.) I am ing the list, I only included snack items that I personally would give to my own kids (from a dentist dad perspective.) I am ing the list, I only included snack items that I personally would give to my own kids (from a dentist dad perspective.) I am ing the list, I only included snack items that I personally would give to my own kids (from a dentist dad perspective.) I am ing the list, I only included snack items that I personally would give to my own kids (from a dentist dad perspective.) I am ing the list, I only included snack items that I personally would give to my own kids (from a dentist dad perspective.) I am ing the list, I only included snack items that I personally would give to my own kids (from a dentist dad perspective.) I am ing the list, I only included snack items that I personally would give to my own kids (from a dentist dad perspective.) I am ing the list, I only included snack items that I personally would give to my own kids (from a dentist dad perspective.) I am ing the list, I only included snack items that I personally would give to my own kids (from a dentist dad personally would give to my own kids (from a dentist dad personally would give to my own kids (from a dentist dad personally would give to my own kids (from a dentist dad personally would give to my own kids (from a dentist dad personally would give to my own kids (from a dentist dad personally would give to my own ki ing the list, I only included snack items that I personally would give to my own kids (from a dentist dad perspective.) I am focusing on the teeth, and not necessarily nutrition. For example, crackers and dried fruit aren't bad for you, but they focusing on the teeth, and not necessarily nutrition. For example, crackers and dried fruit aren't bad for you, but they focusing on the teeth, and not necessarily nutrition. The goal of these snacks is to avoid extremely sticky and starchy. Tocusing on the teeth, and not necessarily nutrition. For example, crackers and dried truit aren't bad for you, but they story starches. The goal of these snacks is to avoid extremely sticky starches. The goal of these snacks is to avoid extremely sticky starches. The goal of these snacks is to avoid extremely sticky starches. The goal of these snacks is to avoid extremely sticky starches. The goal of these snacks is to avoid extremely sticky starches. The goal of these snacks is to avoid extremely sticky starches. The goal of these snacks is to avoid extremely sticky starches. don't make the list since they are so sticky and starchy. The goal of these snacks is to avoid extremely sticky starches.

Remember the prevention principle to keep snack times organized into 5 or 6 mini-meals a day with only water in Remember the prevention principle to keep snack times organized meals and snack times each day are important please between meals if you don't vet understand why having organized meals and snack times each day are important please. Here is the answer! Remember the prevention principle to keep snack times organized into 5 or 6 mini-meals a day with only water in between meals. If you don't yet understand why having organized meals and snack times each day are important, please between meals. If you don't yet understand why having organized meals and snack times each day are important than the actual foods between meals. If you don't yet understand why having organized meals and snack times each day are important than the actual foods. between meals. If you don't yet understand why having organized meals and snack times each day are important, please visit www.theDentistDad.com/articles because understanding that concept is more important than the actual foods themselves

Keep in mind, from a nutrition and dental perspective, whole foods are better as a rule, although they require weekly arrows to mind, from a nutrition and dental perspective, whole foods are better as a rule, although they require weekly are in mind, from a nutrition and dental perspective, whole foods are better as a rule, although they require weekly are in mind, from a nutrition and dental perspective, whole foods are better as a rule, although they require weekly are in mind, from a nutrition and dental perspective, whole foods are better as a rule, although they require weekly are in mind, from a nutrition and dental perspective, whole foods are better as a rule, although they require weekly are in the arows are in the first of the store in the arows are in the first of the store wishes the first of the store wishes are in the first of the store wishes th Keep in mind, from a nutrition and dental perspective, whole toods are better as a rule, although they require weekly grocery store visits. While in the grocery store, try to stay near the outside of the store. Most of the processed foods are in the aisles stored in hoxes. If it is from a hox it is most likely not great for teeth themselves.

For "on the go" options, it limits your selection. Most snacks should hopefully be eaten at home while sitting down and grocery stored in boxes. If it is from a box, it is most likely not great for teeth.

However, being on-the-go is a reality. I have marked the on-the-go snacks with an asterik.*

Some take no prep work, but some require placing them in a ziplock bag before hand, and occasionally slicing them. can be considered a mini-meal.

However, being on-the-go is a reality. I have marked the on-the-go snacks with an asterik.*

Some take no prepared but come require placing them in a riplock has before hard and As I mentioned before, processed foods aren't as ideal, but I still give them to my kids. I like softer bread style "bars" as onnosed to dried fruit bars for the sake of teeth herause bread isn't sticky as dried dates. It is better to baye fresh because bread isn't sticky as dried dates. It is better to baye fresh because bread isn't sticky as dried dates. As I mentioned before, processed foods aren't as ideal, but I still give them to my kids. IT like softer bread style "bars" as opposed to dried fruit bars for the sake of teeth, because bread isn't sticky as dried dates. It is better to have fresh bread opposed to dried fruit bars for the sake of teeth, because of the stickiness factor! can be considered a mini-meal.

I hope this list gives you some new ideas. If you have any other great things to add (or take off), email me at opposed to differ that sais for the stickiness factor!
instead of crackers when it comes to teeth because of the stickiness factor!

Roger@thedentistdad.com.

Keep smiling, Dr. Roger Lucas, DDS

Dentists: Feel free to hand this out to patients.

Check out my website at TheDentistDad.com to avoid surprise cavities and find information about my book, More Chocolate, No Cavities, if you want to all of the tricks to keep your child cavity free.